THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN is published this morning It contains the latest telegraphic news from the East and California in detail, a selection of the best articles published in the DAILY OREGONIAN and the corrected Market Reports, and a Weekly Review of the same

The WEEKLY OREGONIAN contains thirty-six columns of reading matter being far greater than that published in any other journal in the State and we aim to make it the most reliable newspaper, especially in regard to that which pertains to Oregon interests

Single copies, 12½ cents $3 per annum mailed to any part of the United States

About Newspapers.

Some people seem to suppose that it is a very easy thing to publish a newspaper. A brief statement of necessary expenses may not be inappropriate Our telegraphic dispatches cost us every week more than we receive from our city subscribers Paper, ink and type have advanced in cost enormously during the last year. In the Eastern States, newspapers that were furnished at two and three dollars a year, now charge their subscribers six and seven dollars, and they cannot live without doing so We are struggling with all our energy against the difficulties which surround us, using the facilities that a well established position and public confidence give to us we shall succeed, because we are determined to win success, in spite of all obstacles, and we are sure that a generous public will appreciate our efforts in its behalf. It should not be forgotten, however, that there is here a limit to our circulation. If every family in Portland takes the OREGONIAN—and we believe nearly every one does so—we are still sacrificing ourselves and our money for the benefit of our readers It is of no use to talk about two papers in this city—there is no room for them The public will hardly support one, and we know from dearly bought experience, that nobody takes or patronizes a paper unless he thinks he gets an equivalent for his money It is all very pretty to talk about personal organs, but the people won't pay for them, and don't care anything about them We are trying to furnish this community with such a paper, as deserves support it costs us much money, but we cheerfully bear the burden, if our friends will help us, as we endeavor to help them

THE MASSACRE AT FORT PILLOW.—We are sorry to hear of the massacre of the colored troops, and their white officers, at Fort Pillow. It is the inauguration of a system of barbarity which can only be cured by retaliation—and retaliation will be swift to follow. Our Government must protect its troops and the butchery of the blacks and whites, at Fort Pillow, will be revenged. Let what may follow as the result the Government will hastily issue such orders as may be deemed adequate to this emergency If retaliation for this brutal slaughter leads to raising the black flag, let it swing to the breeze The quicker the better we believe for all concerned A war of such a character would not last long, and would tend to save thousands who must perish otherwise. If the rebels sanction this massacre at Fort Pillow, it seems to us that orders for "no quarter" will soon follow on both sides Then comes the tug of war—Exchange

There is a vast deal of truth in the foregoing The war has been carried on as though the rebels had some special rights, which ought to be respected They are deliberately killing the citizens of the nation that is their purpose Ought the Government to hesitate to meet their avowed plans, with equal decision and directness? There is an intense, an unmitigated hate and cruelty in their whole course Shall we always submit to their abominable and lawless conduct? We do not believe we ought to do so, or any longer yield to the dictatorial and utterly abandoned course of our National foes We have sublime and solemn rights, which ought to be respected, and it is time they were regarded

BRITISH COLUMBIA NEWS —The Gazette, of April 24th contains the appointment of Joseph William Trutch, Esq, to be "Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works and Surveyor General for the Colony of British Columbia"—Victoria Chronicle

We congratulate our old friend, who for a long time was in the office of the Surveyor General of Oregon, upon his official promotion We know that he is fully qualified for his new position, and are sure that Her Majesty will have a good officer

It is worth noticing that nearly all the officers who recently escaped from Libby prison, and reached our lines, acknowledge their indebtedness to the negroes They invariably found the negroes friendly and willing to serve as guides, and anxious to provide them with food and point out hiding places

THE FORLORN HOPE OF RHETORIC —The heaviest hour's work ever done by one man in this country was achieved by Mr Dawson, of Pennsylvania, in the House of Representatives His speech was a defense of President Buchanan

Extracts from a Rebel Mail Bag

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, writing from Clarendon, [illegible] Confederate mail bag [illegible] two hundred letters recently captured in Arkansas He says

From these I make the following extracts from which it occurs to me that you may judge of the prevalent condition of affairs in Arkansas better than I can describe [illegible] in the army they contain [illegible] I perused over [illegible] guerrillas disgust at the [illegible] the war and prayers for peace [illegible] them are illiterate [illegible] and a few rational [illegible] extracts

officer writes to her husband "[illegible] dear this terrible war [illegible] over [illegible] I cannot advise [illegible] to help you Oh how my heart [illegible] suffer for lack of clothing [illegible] could weave my heart [illegible] would gladly, oh how cheerfully [illegible] am helpless [illegible] you [illegible] less fear of the Federals [illegible] I can only [illegible] and hourly [illegible] turn of the loved ones to the [illegible] at home"

[illegible]

writes to her truant in a somewhat different style, but to similar effect "I wish you [illegible] and see my noo baby [illegible] since you left way ten pouns we hav the 2 purtiest children in Arkansas i named the noo baby missouria [illegible] u its a nice wun Our niggers [illegible] bluff, the three boys is [illegible] in a nigger army Lord, Lord, how long is these things going to last Yoo aint doing enny good [illegible] at all [illegible] yoo orter cum hom an help me with the baby I dont think we'll [illegible] this yer—then what's pore me tu do [illegible] The hogs is gone inter the swamps fur 2 weeks"

A [illegible] SISTER

writes to a soldier brother "Parson Nolan is our sercut rider now He says that God has planely promised to be on our side and drive the Yankees from our soil Parson Nolan is a splendid preacher, but it dont look to me as if God was drivin the Yanks enny too much outer Arkansas just now There is one thing I dont like at all and that is this gerrila bisness They dont do any good at all, and just rob everybody Parson Nolan prayed agin em at our house last Sunday, and I was right glad of it, for that shows that Robinson wis there and pa says he is right onto the meanest white man in Arkansas May you live happy die happy, and get into the everlasting kingdom above

A FATHER'S OPINION

"I tell you, my son, this country's gone up, and the sooner things get righted up the better for all of us The citizens that have taken the oath have not suffered near as much as those who have not In my opinion Gen McRea has done ten times more harm than good, and he only makes the Federals worse, both sides emulate each other in robbing killing and destroying Whatever you do, my son do not come home your safest place now is with the regular army The reports you hear about Southern soldiers being about here is all false McRae's men are no better than gangs of robbers The Feds are showing them no mercy"

A BUSINESS MAN

at West Point writes to a friend

"Cotton is selling at 58 cents We've made a good thing of it But Lord Ed, you would think the whole world had gone crazy with cotton on the brain Nothing but greenbacks go now Confederate money is not worth a durn I think the whole Confederacy scheme is exploded gone up

"The Feds do not recognize McRae as anything but a guerrilla, and show his men no quarters for the last few weeks I tell you [illegible], its getting to be tight papers The election, to re [illegible] the State comes off next month, the 18th and I expect the Feds are bound to have it all their own way Everybody in this country is taking the oath Lots of the boys have returned home and swear that they intend to stay there and I dont blame them I advise all who want to fight to stay with the regular army, for I'll swear the Feds are bound sooner or later, to kill every damned last man they catch in arms about here."

to her lover inquires "Oh, dear, dear, when will this hateful war be over? It seems forever since you were here, and I tell you Charley, there's lots more girls tired of it besides me The Yanks treat us very well, but they make nothing of me I speak up to them, I tell you I have a sweetheart, one brother and two cousins, all rebels and I am a rebel I quarrel with them every time we meet but they only laugh at me Everybody around here is taking the oath Don't you think, Charley, the war is most over? All our fighting is for nothing I think but ruin and disaster It will be all very well to talk but, oh! Charley, how happy we might have been but for the war Ma says that nothing will ever repay us for the suffering and destitution of hearts and homes You wouldn't know Little Rock now It seems like a strange city to me"

AN INDIGNANT WIFE

says "You had best kum hum for all the good you are doin follerin that ole fool Price about he never did hav no cense enny how an his follerers hev less you better a grate site be looken after your wife and children"

A MOTHER'S CONCLUSION

"My dear Sun You had better beleve yore poor old mother is gettin to a awful pass in Arkansas suthern rites is no more, everybody about Brownsville has tuk the oath and i think it high time you were home follering there example"

I have many others to the same effect, but as the thing grows tedious I will close with

of Mrs Foley, who writes to Isaac, her patriotic husband of "pricey infantry"

"I speckt yu almoste must hav dide this winter the kold has been orfuller then I ever seen in my life hee four and provisions is [illegible], i just wish you wood come hom and tend to raisin yoore offspring prevision ant heer to be gott, i spin fur every mouthful me an yore innocent babes get to eat no buddy wont take the Confederate munney no more sure fur nuthin, now ike ile just give yu a pese of my mind and that is fur you to cum home and tend to yore family befour they starve, you jest let the seceshers [illegible] it out of they want tu i hov rit to you 4 times and aint herd but wunst, i shuddent won[d]er of yu was killed now at this time ur ritin every body is goin over to the feds yu just kum home, they all take the oath and git home [illegible] ite off tu, etc of all the fules that's left there famalise an fitin wud kum home then pese wud kum rite off

But enough of this to enable you to judge of the general tone of sentiment and spirit prevalent among the people of Arkansas It is evident that they are tired of the war

THE NEW YORK HERALD ON POOR PIERCE.

The New York Herald says

Poor Pierce and the spurious Peace Democracy have been fairly skinned in the New Hampshire elections. As we have it poor Pierce was the recognized leader and expounder of his miserable faction in this late contest, and with the understanding that, in securing a Democratic Legislature, his reward would be a seat in the United States Senate Poor Pierce, as a Democratic ex President, was regarded by his stupid followers as a very great man but the people of his State have pronounced him an impostor He retires from their freezing rebuke under a cloud of disgrace He has completed the work of demolishing the Northern rump of the old, worn out and obsolete Democratic party

MECHANICS EXCLUDED —At one time the rich merchants and professional men of Philadelphia proposed to form themselves into a social circle, from which all mechanics were to be excluded The [illegible] were drawn up for this purpose and presented to Dr Franklin for his signature On examining its contents he remarked that he could not consent to write his name inasmuch as by excluding mechanics from their circle, they had excluded the Almighty who was the greatest mechanic of the universe

FORTRESS MONROE, April [illegible]—General orders have been issued from [illegible] at Newbern announcing the [illegible] of Plymouth The enemy [illegible] times were [illegible] with great [illegible] the prompt [illegible] River [illegible]

CHICAGO April 27—[illegible] duties [illegible] which can be entered at any [illegible] payment of the present rates

It is believed the Senate will amend the House resolution so as to increase the duty ten percent At the evening session the House amended the tax bill which was adopted, imposing 2½ percent [illegible] on the gross amount of the sales of sugar and a tax of five per cent ad valorem was placed on quicksilver produced from ore The clause was amended so that a 5 percent tax imposed on gold and silver produced from [illegible] from river bed from the earth or in any other manner provided that all such duties shall be payable in coin or bullion

Higby of California moved as an amendment that no duty shall be collected on any amount produced under six hundred dollars, which was rejected

Wallace of Idaho, moved to strike out the proviso requiring the payment of this tax in coin or bullion which was adopted

An amendment was adopted requiring commercial brokers to pay a license without regard to the amount of their transactions

Increasing duty on bills sales for vessels bonds mortgages [illegible] solid chewing tobacco, bear the same tax as [illegible]—30 cents per pound

NEW YORK April 27—The finishing shop of the Agricultural Iron Works, on 14th street was destroyed by fire last night Loss $100 000, 1,000 workmen were thrown out of employment.

On the 7th of April a fire at Gonaives Hayti destroyed 111 buildings Loss estimated at $3 000,000 Foreign merchants were nearly ruined by the disaster

Rebel accounts from Shreveport to the 22d of April, have been received At that time the place was garrisoned by a sufficient force to hold it against the expected attack The fortifications were complete, and the heavy batteries were sufficiently elevated to secure plunging shot against iron sides—the guns being of very heavy caliber In addition to these defences, the river was obstructed to such an extent that the fleet could not advance on the town without much difficulty and delay as well as danger The garrison was provisioned for a siege of six months The troops are said to be in the best spirits and reposed undoubted confidence in Kirby Smith

Martinsburg Va, dispatches say the rebels are reported to be concentrating in front of that place How large a force they have is unknown There are indications that this force will commence offensive operations on the lower part of the Shenandoah river which is now greatly swollen The Potomac is also exceedingly high

NEW YORK, April 28 —A special of the Times says a squad of rebel deserters arrived to day They say that Lee has been receiving reinforcements One asserts much heavy artillery has been sent to Richmond A belief is current among the soldiers that an early retrograde movement upon the city would be made

Longstreet's divisions have been sent back to Richmond

It is said that orders will soon be issued commanding commanders having colored troops under them to retaliate upon the rebels

Orders have been issued for an immediate draft in Pennsylvania, New Jersey Massachusetts and Ohio A draft will probably be ordered in Delaware and in some districts of Maryland

The Tribune's special Congressional correspondent says the congress men contemplate an adjournment by the 7th of June

The Herald's special, says the enemy show increased signs of activity Yesterday they filled the river with logs to try and sweep off our bridges The scheme failed

Mosby's guerrillas in quite a strong force, appeared near our lines yesterday

No civilians are allowed to go to the front

An unsuccessful attempt was made to destroy the frigate Wabash off Charleston by a torpedo boat The Wabash gave a broadside to the enemy's vessel which sunk her, and the Wabash escaped under the cover of the darkness

CHATTANOOGA April 26 —In the rebel attack on our pickets at Nickajack Gap on the 23d, our loss was 5 killed, 4 wounded, 19 missing and probably captured Several of our men are said to have been killed after surrendering

COLUMBUS, April 28 —There is no truth in the report that Crawford County of this State, has been placed under martial law on account of the alleged secret organizations

NEW YORK April 28 —A special dispatch says

In the House the Speaker laid before that body an address to the President from the people of East Tennessee The President's reply to the address relates to the suffering of the people in East Tennessee, and asks for prompt payment of their claims against the Government, the establishment of railroad facilities for obtaining supplies, and urges the building of a railroad between Knoxville and Cincinnati, by the way of Central Kentucky, would be of great consequence in the present emergency It is estimated that the losses which a railroad in 1861 would have saved, amounts to $3,000 000 He also said that in his annual message in 1861, he recommended the construction of such a road, and now, with the hearty concurrence of Congress, he would yet be pleased to have it done

The America from New Orleans April 19th has arrived The Era of the 19th says The greater portion of the rebel army was at Mansfield Preparations were being made for another advance of our army The Era adds We have good reasons to believe that Gen Banks is again on his way to Shreveport

WASHINGTON April 28 —An amendment to the Revenue bill was adopted placing a tax of two cents per pound on lower grades of brown sugar higher grades three cents, and on clarified and refined sugar four cents

A bill has been adopted providing that it shall be unlawful to record any instrument, document or paper unless proper stamps shall be affixed without which such record shall be utterly void, and shall not be used as evidence

NEW YORK, April 28 —The Champion from Aspinwall brings $428 000 in specie

ALBANY April 29 —It is understood here that all the artillery regiments and the detachments now in the Government Forts have been ordered to the front The militia will be called out to take their place.

BOSTON, April 28 —All companies of heavy artillery in the State have been ordered to Washington

WASHINGTON April 29 —The Richmond papers claim that the rebels captured at Plymouth 3 000 prisoners

It is said by the members of the National Executive Committee that there is no probability of the postponement of the time for the meeting of the Baltimore Convention

It is now generally understood here that General Lee will endeavor to fight without leaving his entrenchments

Letters received to day from Admiral Porter pronounces Banks recent expedition a [illegible] failure Besides over thirty pieces of artillery and a large quantity of small arms [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] days [illegible] 1,000 [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] that Banks will be [illegible] by Gen Steele [illegible] Franklin and [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] in Louisiana will be relieved and probably [illegible]

The Herald has letters from the fleet off Wilmington [illegible] which state General Banks arrived [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] rebels [illegible] [illegible] on their way to Richmond The enemy [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] came [illegible] will even only end in [illegible] to the rebels

HOW A NATION'S [illegible] MAY PROVE A COWARD —We have [illegible] ammunition, [illegible] While the entire rebel [illegible] reports very [illegible] all my cavalry and [illegible] [illegible] I [illegible] division and is [illegible] by water to West Point to day Not one shall be lost

The rebels [illegible] the York river [illegible] in my possession

[illegible] the enemy [illegible]—Extract [illegible] McClellan's dispatch May 4th, 1862

I learn from a prisoner that the rebels intend [illegible] holding them [illegible] [illegible] believe the original plan [illegible] considerably [illegible] that of the rebels, who will fight [illegible] all [illegible] at my disposal —From the same, May 5th, 1862

In less than six weeks McClellan was dictating the political policy of the war to the President [illegible]

[illegible] BLISS —An exchange thinks it mighty pleasant thing to be distilled by the following language from one's better half after dinner, while enjoying the enjoyment of one's self with a new paper and fragrant cigar

My Dear I wish before you return to your business that you would bring up a few armfuls of wood [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] water from the river [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] different [illegible] in town, and keep hunting around until you find some eggs then take this shoe to Mr Cushing and have it repaired and then, if you have time you may bring in a pail of water and before you get up from your chair if you have a handkerchief in your pocket you will be so good as to wipe the child's nose

THE NORTHWESTERN RAT-HIDE COMPANY —It is rumored that a company of Frenchmen has been formed in this city for the purpose of catching all the rats possible, curing their skins and exporting them to Paris, to be used in the manufacture of gloves For years what is called "French kid" gloves have been made from the skins of these animals, caught in Paris and other parts of Europe, but the demand being greater than the supply, it has become necessary to extend rat catching arrangements to this country, and no finer field than Chicago for such operations can present itself —Chicago Journal

THE CAMANCHE ONCE MORE.—Mr Editor —Would it not be better to notify your numerous readers that Heuston, Hastings & Co, of San Francisco have offered to dress every man in the State on the most reasonable terms and that they invite the merchants in the interior to visit their wholesale rooms, corner of Battery and Pine Streets? You would thereby do much good to the public

Retiring from the Practice of Medicine
A CARD.

DR L J CZAPKAY begs leave to announce to the public and particularly to his patrons on the Pacific Coast that he is about to close his business with the view of retiring for the present from the arduous labors of his profession

As it is his intention during the ensuing Fall to leave the United States for the purpose of visiting Europe he will not receive any new patients after the first day of July 1864 Those therefore who may desire his services will apply within a reasonable time Dr Czapkay desires to assure those who are now under his care that they continue to receive all the attention which his obligations prescribe and their cases respectively demand Those who hold contracts guaranteeing a cure are hereby requested to report to Dr. Czapkay before the first day of June, 1864, whether or not they are satisfied that a cure has been effected in their cases respectively All who do not thus report within the time specified will be regarded and treated as cured.

In taking leave of his patients and the public, Dr Czapkay desires to express his profound gratitude for the extraordinary patronage bestowed upon him, and the confidence reposed in his professional ability.

During his residence in California Dr Czapkay has treated successfully upwards of twenty five thousand patients, which is the best guarantee that his course of treatment has been crowned with a success at once personally gratifying and almost unprecedented in the annals of medicine

Any physician in good standing who may desire to purchase the interest of Dr Czapkay in his "Institute," and the good will of his business, may make application and state proposals

THE EXAMINATION YESTERDAY —Char[les] Burkhart and Lucy E, his wife, were bro[ught] before Justice Gray yesterday morning, [and] examined upon a charge of assault upon [the] person of Mary Steele, a little girl betw[een] six and seven years old, with intent to com[mit] murder We noticed the leading features [of] the arrest in our last issue, and refrain fr[om] repeating the evidence elicited at the exa[mi]nation, as it is betrays on the part of the [de]fendants a diabolical brutality incredible [but] for the most unimpeachable testimony [In]deed among the large crowd of rough men [in] attendance, but few eyes were dry at the r[eci]tal of the atrocities the almost murdered ch[ild] had thus far survived The defendants w[ere] committed, and locked up—the masculine [in] default of $1 000, and the feminine of [illegible] bail The habeas corpus, upon which [the] possession of the child had been obtained, w[as] argued before Judge Marquam, and it w[as] proven that the little girl had no legal gu[ar]dian in the State The Court appointed [illegible] S Caldwell, Esq, to take charge of her, w[ho] at once provided her with every comfort, a[nd] her medical attendants pronounced her out [of] danger last evening, although gangrene h[ad] previously attacked her feet. Mr and M[rs] Ladd are deserving of much praise for the[ir] unceasing toil on Thursday night, to rend[er] the little sufferer comfortable, when it w[as] first rescued from the tortures of the inca[r]nate fiends who held [illegible]

THE PLAZA FENCE —On Thursday evenin[g] Councilman Hurgren called attention to th[e] crooked lines described by a portion of th[e] new fence around the Public Square, an[d] urged such action as should remedy the defec[t] before more work had been done In repl[y] it was stated that the error had already bee[n] remedied, but it seems that there was some misun[der]standing about the change, so that by le[v]eling the line of the central [illegible] gateway it is made to connect the [illegible] built up in places varying six or eight inches in height We heard it declared [illegible] that familiarity with such a digression from the true sides of a square would ruin the ey[e] of every mechanic in town in less than a yea[r] If this is true, then the line of fence, w[e] hope the Council will [illegible] the [illegible] until it is straightened, because the pedes[trians] in that locality may become so obtus[e] that they cannot see the point of a joke— which, of itself, would be very offensive

CHURCH CLOSED FOR IMPROVEMENTS —Th[e] Congregational Church edifice, on Second st [illegible] is now undergoing some [illegible], improve[]ments and renovation, that will add materially to the internal appearance and comfort of th[e] structure The walls and ceiling are wh[ite] hard finished, the entrance to the pews rem[o]deled, giving more room with less acute angles. The whole is to be painted, cushioned, an[d] carpeted, and in view of the time required t[o] accomplish the results, the Church will b[e] closed to-morrow, and the next Sabbath

JUMPING BLOCKS —The blocks 40 by 200 feet in size, located in the center of Park st and intended for the ornamental purposes of improvement, were a portion of them taken possession of by "jumpers" yesterday, who by small enclosures try to make private property of the public street Won't it look "huge" to see houses springing up on those narrow avenues, once the pride of the city.

A PRIZE SEAL —A beautiful Seal, of the prize species, was received last evening from the Cascades, by Messrs Powell & Lappeus, of the Oro Fino, in this city These Seals pass much of their time in the water, but have warm blood, and breathe only free air The one we mention appears to take its new mode of living "about the house" with perfect composure.

THE NEW SALT WORKS —The large salt pans just completed at the Oregon Iron Works, will be shipped to-day for their destination, at the salt wells, eighteen miles below this city, where they will be used as evaporators, in the process of manufacturing salt The castings weigh together over 4600 pounds The enterprise promises large returns, and exhibits another of our home resources

LOYAL ELLSWORTH —This is the name given to a trim built little steamer owned in Brooklyn and used for towing barges She is of side wheel construction, handsomely painted and lettered, and reflects no discredit to the loyal name of its illustrious exemplar. Success to the Ellsworth

OREGON MADE HARNESS —We notice that considerable quantities of harness for Government has been of late manufactured in this city, by Messrs J B Congle and S Sherlock & Co The steamer Vancouver yesterday took over from the latter manufacturers, 1 set of 6 mule and 1 set of 4 mule harness, for the A Q M

AHEAD OF TIME — The California Daily Mail Stage Company are carrying a taut rein on their route The Stage on Thursday arrived in Portland from Sacramento in 6 days and 11 hours, 13 hours ahead of schedule time This speaks well for the Company and route

A SHOWER OF ASHES —Yesterday our city had quite a sprinkling of white, flaky ashes, borne across the Willamette upon the breeze got up "expressly for the occasion" by a fire in the woods several miles distant

THE STEAMER RIVAL — This neat little boat, which has of late been overhauled and painted, yesterday received her shaft, it having undergone repairs and she will soon be in running trim again

TILLAMOOK PACKET —The schooner Ellen, from Fort Allison arrived at the mouth of the Willamette yesterday morning, and was towed up to the city by the steamer Vancouver

THE Wilson G Hunt last evening brought down about 25 passengers The treasure was light, there being no Express connection above Walla Walla

THE EXAMINATION YESTERDAY.—Charles Burkhart and Lucy E., his wife, were brought before Justice Gray yesterday morning, and examined upon a charge of assault upon the person of Mary Steele, a little girl between six and seven years old, with intent to commit murder. We noticed the leading features of the arrest in our last issue, and refrain from repeating the evidence elicited at the examination, as it is betrays on the part of the defendants a diabolical brutality incredible but for the most unimpeachable testimony. Indeed, among the large crowd of rough men in attendance, but few eyes were dry at the recital of the atrocities the almost murdered child had thus far survived. The defendants were committed, and locked up—the masculine in default of $1,000, and the feminine of $250 bail. The habeas corpus, upon which the possession of the child had been obtained, was argued before Judge Marquam, and it was proven that the little girl had no legal guardian in the State. The Court appointed W. S. Caldwell, Esq., to take charge of her, who at once provided her with every comfort, and her medical attendants pronounced her out of danger last evening, although gangrene had previously attacked her feet. Mr. and Mrs. Ladd are deserving of much praise for their unceasing toil on Thursday night, to render the little sufferer comfortable, when it was first reached from the tortures of the incarnate fiends who held it.

THE PLAZA FENCE.—On Thursday evening Councilman Hurgren called attention to the crooked lines described by a portion of the new fence around the Public Square, and urged such action as should remedy the defect before more work had been done. In reply, it was stated that the evil had already been remedied, but it seems that was some misunderstanding about the change, so that by loving the line of the central or main gateway, it is made to connect the two portions of fence built upon planes varying six or eight inches in height. We heard it declared yesterday that familiarity with such a digression from the true sides of a square would ruin the eye of every mechanic in town, in less than a year. If this is truer than the line of fence, we hope the Council will not let the matter rest until it is straightened, because the pedestrians of that locality may become so obtuse that they cannot see the point of a joke—which, of itself, would be very off fence-ive.

CHURCH CLOSED FOR IMPROVEMENTS.—The Congregational Church edifice, on Second st., is now undergoing some repairs, improvements and renovation, that will add materially to the internal appearance and comfort of the structure. The walls and ceiling are white hard-finished, the entrance to the pews remodeled, giving more room with less acute angles. The whole is to be painted, cushioned, and carpeted, and in view of the time required to accomplish the results, the Church will be closed to-morrow, and the next Sabbath.

JUMPING BLOCKS.—The blocks 40 by 200 feet in size, located in the center of Park st., and intended for the ornamental purposes of improvement, were a portion of them taken possession of by "jumpers" yesterday, who by small enclosures try to make private property of the public street. Won't it look "huge" to see houses springing up on those narrow avenues, once the pride of the city.

A PRIZE SEAL.—A beautiful Seal, of the prime species, was received last evening from the Cascades, by Messrs. Powell & Lappeus, of the Oro Fino, in this city. These Seals pass much of their time in the water, but have warm blood, and breathe only free air. The one we mention appears to take its new mode of living "about the house" with perfect composure.

THE NEW SALT WORKS.—The large salt pans just completed at the Oregon Iron Works, will be shipped to-day for their destination, at the salt wells, eighteen miles below this city, where they will be used as evaporators, in the process of manufacturing salt. The castings weigh together over 4600 pounds. The enterprise promises large returns, and exhibits another of our home resources.

LOYAL ELLSWORTH.—This is the name given to a trim built little steamer owned in Brooklyn and used for towing barges. She is of side wheel construction, handsomely painted and lettered, and reflects no discredit to the loyal name of its illustrious exemplar. Success to the Ellsworth.

The steamer Vancouver yesterday took over from the latter manufacturers, 1 set of 6-mule, and 1 set of 4-mule harness, for the A. Q. M.

AHEAD OF TIME.—The California Daily Mail Stage Company are carrying a taut rein on their route. The Stage on Thursday arrived in Portland from Sacramento in 6 days and 11 hours, 13 hours ahead of schedule time. This speaks well for the Company and route.

A SHOWER OF ASHES.—Yesterday, our city had quite a sprinkling of white, flaky ashes, borne across the Willamette upon the breeze, got up "expressly for the occasion" by a fire in the woods several miles distant.

THE STEAMER RIVAL.—This neat little boat, which has of late been overhauled and painted, yesterday received her shaft, it having undergone repairs, and she will soon be in running trim again.

TILLAMOOK PACKET.—The schooner Ellen, from Fort Adams, arrived at the mouth of the mouth of the Willamette yesterday morning, and was towed up to the city by the steamer Vancouver.

THE Wilson G. Hunt last evening brought down about 25 passengers. The treasure was light, there being no Express connection above Walla Walla.

THE PANORAMA LAST EVENING.—The receipts at the Theatre last evening, on the occasion of the exhibition of Pearson's Historic Mirror of the War, amounted to nearly $250, which was given in aid of the Sanitary fund. At the close of the exhibition resolutions were adopted by the audience, recommending the Panorama as worthy of patronage, and tendering thanks to Mr. Bachelder for the benefit, also to the Mechanics' Brass Band, the Portland Gas Company, and the OREGONIAN office, for their liberality on the occasion. There will be an exhibition this afternoon, and one this evening, which will positively be the last in this city. Every person purchasing a ticket for the evening exhibition will receive a present at the door, and the gentleman taking the largest number of ladies will receive the gift of a costly cabinet.

Convalescence after Typhoid Fever.—Every one who knows anything of this fever, knows that the period of convalescence is extremely long, if indeed the health be ever perfectly re-established. In such cases the PERUVIAN SYRUP supplies a want long felt by the profession, and has restored invalids to health in a remarkably rapid manner, when all the usual tonic remedies had failed. ap25d6t

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—The operation of this palatable remedy upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties, and it is recommended to mothers, enfeebled by the cares and duties of maternity, as the safest and best tonic they can probably use. In all the crisis of female life it will be found eminently useful, and elderly persons will derive much more benefit from it than from ordinary stimulants.—Sold by all Druggists and Dealers everywhere. ap26d1m

MARKET REPORT AND REVIEW.

Friday morning, April 29.

Sales for the past week show an increase in trade. A large number of orders have been filled for the upper country, notwithstanding this no material change has been made in prices, and the probability seems to be that while supplies last regular customers will be liberally met without any advance.

A liberal supply of produce has arrived during the time we have under review, which found sales at remunerative prices. We hear of one lot of 4 000 lbs. of bacon, selling at 16 cts from wagons. A barge load of potatoes, now at the wharf, is held at 35@40 cents. 500 dozen of eggs sold in one lot at 18½ cents. The average sales for the week reach 20 cents per dozen.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure for the maladies above-mentioned, and also

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY, LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease any way connected with the disorders or decay of the Procreative Functions. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once rebraced, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom or an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor. The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER, INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND
CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING OR PAINFUL
URINATING
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS
OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Males or Females.

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back, and through your hips? CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.

PERUVIAN SYRUP,

OR PROTECTED

Solution of Protoxide of Iron,

Has been used with Great Success in Curing

DYSPEPSIA,

Affections of the Liver, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Bronchitis and Consumptive Tendencies, Disordered State of the Blood, Female Complaints, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Scurvy, the prostrating effects of Lead or Mercury,

GENERAL DEBILITY,

and all Diseases which require a

Tonic and Alterative Medicine.

THE PROOFS OF ITS EFFICACY are so numerous, so well authenticated, and of such peculiar character, that sufferers cannot reasonably hesitate to receive the proffered aid.

The class of diseases for which the Syrup provides a cure, is precisely that which has so often baffled the highest order of medical skill. The facts are tangible, the witnesses accessible, and the safety and efficacy of the Syrup incontrovertible.

From well-known Citizens of Boston.

The undersigned having experienced the beneficial effects of the "Peruvian Syrup," do not hesitate to recommend it to the attention of the public.

Certificate of Dr. Hayes.

It is well known that the medicinal effect of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron, without further oxidation, has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup, this desirable point is attained by COMBINATION IN A WAY BEFORE UNKNOWN, and this solution may replace all the proto-carbonates, citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica. A. A. HAYES, M. D., Assayer to the State of Massachusetts.

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DIScovery of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to over-estimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is to act upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation it remained almost useless until Dr Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent. This, considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates from ... Dr. ... Chilton of this city and Prof Booth U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and its use recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly," July 6, 1860 page 30.)

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body as the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color; hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, becomes full, strong and florid.

Full directions accompany each bottle.

Sold by all Druggists. Price, $1 per bottle. Prepared by Dr H. Anders & Co., Physicians and Chemists, New York.

STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.

Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious blood, and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A word to the Aged.

In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters,

As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females.

Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and enlightens the depressed mental powers, as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.

Zenas Carey's Reward.

Red and sullen, like the eye of some baleful demon, the low sun glowed through the tangled depths of the November woods, casting bloody lines of light across the fallen trees, whose mossy trunks were half hidden in drifts of faded yellow leaves, and evoking faint, sweet scents, like Orient sandal wood and teak, from a thousand forest censors hidden away, who knows how or where. And through that line of dull flaming fire the sky frowned—a leaden gray concave, freighted, as the weatherwise could tell you, with snowflakes sufficient to turn that broken forest into a fairy grove of pearl and ermine. So the daylight was ebbing away from this Thanksgiving eve.

"Now I wonder where I am?" said John Siddons, pausing abruptly in the scarce visible foot-path that wound among the trees. "As completely 'turned round' as though I stood in the deserts of Egypt! I wish I had been sensible enough to keep to the high road; these short cuts generally turn out long ones. However, if I keep straight ahead, I must inevitably emerge from these woods somewhere."

He sat down on a mossy stump, leaning his head carelessly on one hand, while the other played unconsciously with the worn brim of his blue soldier's cap—a slender, pleasant-faced young man, with grey-blue eyes, and dark hair thrown back from a bronzed forehead, which had been touched by the fiery arrows of many a Southern sun in lonely swamps, and along the fever-recking shores of sullen rivers.

"Houseless; homeless!" he murmured to himself. "I wonder how many others are saying the same thing this Thanksgiving eve. To think that I should fight through the campaign unhurt, and return with an honorable discharge in my pocket to a place where no one knows or cares whether I'm alive or dead, while so many brave fellows were shot down at my side with bullets that tore through a score of hearts at home, carrying sharper pangs than death has to give! It's a queer thing to have only one relative in the world, and he a total stranger. If I find this second cousin of my father, he'll probably kick me out of doors for a shiftless, soldiering vagabond. But, hang it, a man can't live alone like a tortoise in his shell. I remember wondering, when I was a boy, why the Madeira vines over the porch stretched out their tendrils and seemed to grope through the sunshine for something to cling to. I think I understand it now."

He rose up and walked on through the russet leaves that rustled ankle-deep beneath his tread, still musing—musing; trying to study out the unknown quantities in life's great equation, while the sun went down behind a bank of lurid clouds, and the chill night wind began to sigh sorrowfully in the tree tops. And suddenly the sturdy woods tapered off into a silver stemmed thicket of white birches fringed a lonely country road with a little red house beyond, whose windows were aglow with fire light, and whose door-yard was full of the peculiar perfume of white and maroon-blossomed chrysanthemums.

Zenas Carey was leaning over the gate, surveying the stormy sunset with a critical eye.

"I told Melindy so!" ejaculated Zenas, apparently addressing himself to the crooked apple tree by the road. "I'll bet my best steer we have a good old-fashioned fall of snow to keep Thanksgivin' with. I smelt it in the air this mornin,' but women don't never believe nothin' until it comes to pass right under their noses, for—"

This rather obscure sentence was nipped in the bud by a footstep at his side. Zenas turned abruptly to reconnoitre the new arrival.

"Will you be kind enough to give me a glass of water, sir?" said John Siddons, wearily.

"Sartin, sir," said Zenas. "So you're a soldier, hey?"

"A returned soldier," said Siddons, draining the cool element from the cocoa-nut shell that always lay close to the well-curb, at the side of the house.

"Goin' home to keep Thanksgivin'?" questioned Zenas.

"Home? Sir, have no home!"

Siddons had spoken sharply, as if the thought were goading him. Zenas put out his brown knotted hand and grasped the retreating man's arm.

"My boy!" he said, with kindly abruptness, "you're a soldier, and to tell by your looks I should guess you were about the age of him that's buried at Gettysburg—my only son! I love that blue uniform for David's sake, and if there's a soldier in the world that hasn't a home to go to on Thanksgivin' eve, there's a corner for him by Zenas Carey's fire side. Come in, sir! You're welcome as flowers in May!"

John looked into the wet eyes and working face of the old farmer an instant, and accepted his invitation without another word.

What a cheerful change it was, from the frosty air and chill twilight of the lonely road, to that bright kitchen with its spotless board floor and resinous pine logs. And when Melinda Carey drew a humped-backed rocking-chair to the hearth for him, and spoke a word of welcome, John Siddons wondered if the eyes of his mother, who died when he was a babe, had not beamed upon him just so!

"I told mother so, this very mornin,'" said Zenas, with a triumphant flourish of his hand, as he stirred up the logs to a waving, glorious sheet of flame. "Says I, 'Melinda, we'll kill the biggest turkey, and I'll pick out the yallerest pumpkins on the barn floor.' And says she, 'what for, Zenas, when there's only us two to eat 'em?' and says I, 'Mother, Davie was here with us last Thanksgivin' with his new uniform, as brave and handsome as you'll often see—now, mother, don't cry.'"

Zenas interrupted himself to stroke his wife's grey hair with a strangely tender touch, and went on:

"Says I, 'He's gone where its Thanksgivin' all the year round now, my poor boy—my brave boy; but, says I, we'll make somebody welcome for Davie's sake, won't we, mother?' And now, sir, you'll spend to-morrow with us, and tell me about the battle of Gettysburg, where Davie died, crying out with his last breath not to let the flag be captured."

Zena's voice died out into a choking, gasping sob. John Siddons laid his hand softly on the rough, toil-hardened hand of the farmer, while a pang of envy shot through his heart. Ah! it was almost worth being shot down in battle to be missed and mourned like dead David Carey!

"O, wife," wailed Zenas, when Siddons had fallen asleep in the little corner room that had been the lost boy's; "it is almost like having Davie back again! Wife, I fight my great sorrow down every night, but in the morning it rises up again more than ever! God help every parent whose home is made desolate by the field of battle."

Thanksgiving dawned with a white whirlwind of driving snow that eddied among the gnarled boughs of the apple tree in mad frolics, and edged the old stone wall with the dazzling ermine. And the fiery sparks rising swiftly up Zenas Carey's wide chimney met the steadily falling snow half way and gave battle, while the hearth glowed with ruddy brightness, as if it knew all about the Governor's Proclamation and approved of it.

"You have a cozy little farm here, Mr. Carey," said John, as they walked through the snow storm to the church whose spire nestled among the everlasting hills beyond.

"If I was only sure of it, sir," said Zenas, with a sigh. "But I've been hard up to get along these times. Taxes come heavy on a poor man, and I've had a run o' ill luck, so that the place is mortgaged to its full value, and to a hard man—one that would sell the home you've been born in, as soon as to eat his breakfast, so he can make money by it. It will be a black day for Melindy and me when we have to leave the Rock Farm; but it must soon come, and I don't much care what becomes of me arterwards. I tell you, sir, when a man of my age has lived under one roof, he don't care about bein' moved. Men are like forest trees, sir; you can take a young 'un and do as you please with it, but if you transplant an old 'un it dies. Let's [illegible] o' suthin' else, Mr. Siddons. I oughtn't to complain Thanksgivin' day."

John looked with a feeling of actual reverence at the hard featured old man, whose simple soul, borne down as he was by debt and grief, and age could still find something to be thankful for.

The turkey and the pumpkin pies were smoking on the round table when John and Zenas returned from church; and Mrs. Carey had brought out her "flowing blue" plates and her choicest old time silver spoons in honor of their guest. There was no beverage but coffee that never knew the shores of Java, and a pitcher of cold, sparkling cider; and Mrs. Carey's smiling kindness gave a flavor to the chickorized rye that is sometimes lacking in "egg-shell china."

The table was cleared away, and they were sitting round the fire, when the door was opened, and Deacon Everts entered, bringing a small snow-drift on the shoulders of his shaggy overcoat.

"Well, I'm beat!" quote Zenas. "Take a cheer, deacon. Let me hang your coat afore the fire to dry."

"Can't stay," said the deacon, giving himself a shake, like a black water dog on his hind legs. "I thought you'd like to hear the news, so I just dropped in on my way to my darter's Thanksgivin' dinner."

"News! what news?" exclaimed Zenas, while his wife dropped her knitting.

"Do tell! then you hain't heerd?"

"I hain't heerd nothin' but the wind howlin' down the chimbly, and Elder Smith's sermon this mornin'," said Zenas, a little impatient.

"The old Squire's dead, up to the great house!"

"Dead?" you don't tell me so. That's the man I was speakin' of as holding my mortgage!" explained Zenas, turning to John Siddons. "And when did it happen, deacon?"

"Died last night, sir, just about nightfall, as quiet as a lamb. There wer'nt nobody with him but the old housekeeper—folks did'nt suppose he was dangerous. And lawyer Ovid says there's a reg'lar will, and he's left all his property to the only relative he had livin'; a soldierin' fellow that he'd never as much as seen—one Sedgwick, or Sibley, or what is his name now? Any how, he's fell heir to all 'Squire Peter Aylesford's property, and that's a pretty considerable windfall."

"Was that name Siddons?" asked the soldier.

"That's it!" said the deacon, giving his knee a sounding slap.

"Peter Aylesford was my father's cousin," said the young man quietly.

"Land 'o Goshen," ejaculated deacon Everts, with growing veneration for the heir to 'the old 'Squire's' money. "Now reely I that's kind of providential, ain't it. To think that you should be right here on the spot."

"I was in search of Mr. Aylesford's house when I met you, sir," said Siddons turning to Carey; "but as I was unaware what sort of a reception I might get, your kind invitation decided me to wait a day or two."

In vain did the deacon try to "pump" the young soldier. John Siddons was civilly uncommunicative, and the deacon finally took leave, burning to unfold his budget of news elsewhere.

"I hope, sir," said Carey, uneasily, when they were once more alone, "you won't be hard about that mortgage. I'm a poor man, and—"

"Mr. Carey," said John quietly, "you shall burn that mortgage on this hearth the very day I come into possession of my relative's papers. No thanks, sir; I have not forgotten that I was a stranger, and you took me in.' Do you suppose I shall ever cease to remember the welcome of the Thanksgiving hearth? I never knew either father or mother; but to-day I have fancied what their kindness might have been."

"It was for Davie's sake!" sobbed Mrs. Carey, fairly overcome.

"Then for your dead son's sake will you let me fill his place toward you? Last night death took from me the only one in the world to whom I was allied by ties of blood; do not turn me from your hearts!"

"The Lord bless thee—the Lord make his face to shine on thee, my second son," said the old man solemnly.

Slowly the dusk gathered athwart the hills, with wailing winds and whirling drifts of snow—slowly the darkness wrapped them round; but in Zenas Carey's steadfast soul the light of an eternal Thanksgiving was burning; and his wife with tearful eyes mused upon her two soldier boys—one dead at Gettysburg, the other sitting at her side.
